DISPATCHED ated 13 April 1960. 1. AEDOGMA-1 was visited at his Munich apartment on 27 April 1960 when the matters in the reference were discussed with AEDOGMA-1 (see below). <input type="checkbox"/> was introduced to AEDOGMA-1 as "Maxim" and will maintain contact with AEDOGMA-1 until he returns to Paris. The following are the results of the discussion. 2. Re paragraph 1A, AEDOGMA-1 will prepare a detailed report. 3. Re paragraph 1B, AEDOGMA-1 said that Mlle. "HRYSAK" and Tamara HRYCIUK (HRYTSYUK) are identical. A number of German journals published an article (some included a photograph of HRYCIUK) of her experiences on Corsica during Khrushchev's visit to Paris. AEDOGMA-1 reported the following, as obtained from Ivan KOPOVICH, OURF secretary, regarding Tamara HRYTSYUK; it is given here in detail since, according to <input type="checkbox"/> it may have a bearing on an operation, now in a Headquarters planning stage, in which <input type="checkbox"/> will play a leading role. A. Her father (name not given) went from the Ukraine to France circa 1927 as a worker and remained there till 1939. Until 1939, her father visited Tamara and her mother in Rovno once per year. In 1939, during one such visit, he was forced to remain in Rovno due to outbreak of the war. In 1946, her father obtained permission to move to Poland and he took Tamara and her mother along. They moved to Paris, France, in 1947 and since then he has been employed as a watchman, bookkeeper, etc. According to AEDOGMA-1's source, Tamara's father is a Communist Party member; the source and AEDOGMA-1 reason that her father must be a CP member since he held an important position at a Rovno kolkhoz and, furthermore, he was given travel privileges at the end of World War II. B. Tamara is about 23-24 years old. She completed language studies at the Sorbonne in early 1960 (she reportedly is fluent in Russian, Ukrainian, Polish, German, English, Spanish and probably Italian). During 5-20 April 1960, Tamara was scheduled to attend a special course in Russian and English somewhere in Switzerland; she allegedly was the only one of 40 candidates to have completed the pre-requisite examinations for the training in Switzerland. She has been the head for the past four years of the Studentka Hromada (Student Community) in France. Her ambition is to serve with a diplomatic corps or with the United Nations as a translator with the atomic commission (she has a friend, Marusya LNU, who is employed as a translator with the atomic commission in Belgium).

C. AEDOGMA-1 became somewhat excited about his contact with Tamara in February (alluded to in the reference) after Dr. fnu KOEPKE, of Munich, indicated that AEDOGMA-1's current illness may have resulted from contact poisoning. His report is as follows: he appeared for a rendezvous with Tamara on 29 February at a time and place appointed by her. After waiting 45 minutes he departed the RV place for a restaurant in the area. As he was about to finish his noon meal, Tamara suddenly appeared in the restaurant. AEDOGMA-1 said he was surprised that she located him (there are supposed to be a number of restaurants in the neighborhood), but he chose not to make it an issue. They sipped wine and coffee for about two hours, during which AEDOGMA-1 left the table twice. At the end of the meeting, AEDOGMA-1 left to get their coats and, because the waiter was alert and brought the clothing to AEDOGMA-1 as he was half-way to the cloak-room, AEDOGMA-1 returned to the table sooner than usual. When he returned to Tamara, he found her near a window, waving her hand and smiling at an individual in the street. She apparently was caught unaware since she blushed and said, "That man is from the Soviet Embassy". Again AEDOGMA-1 chose not to make an issue of the incident. (AEDOGMA-1 spent some time in discussing his various theories regarding the incident and how it may have resulted in his illness; he elaborated mostly on the possibility that the RV time and place could have been arranged for surveillance purposes and that Tamara, if she played any role in the poisoning, would have had an opportunity to do so during this contact.)

4. Re paragraph 1C, Munich Base has dropped interest in Michal KOSZYLYK and AEDOGMA-1 was instructed accordingly.

5. Re paragraphs 1D and E, AEDOGMA-1 will prepare reports which will be forwarded to Paris at a later date.

6. Re paragraph 2, AEDOGMA-1 has not heard from such friends as Helene BENDER.

7. With regard to the parenthetical comments in paragraph 3C, a b.o.e. and as supplementary data to the matter described in Attachment D of EQ-1A L3603, dated 19 April 1960, AEDOGMA-1 said that POPOVICH and Boris VITUSHYNSKIY were allegedly the only two Ukrainian emigres in Paris who were not sent to Corsica and who were not forced to report to the police on a daily basis during Khrushchev's Paris visit. On 9 March 1960, when POPOVICH, VITUSHYNSKIY and BIDNYK had lunch with AEDOGMA-1, AEDOGMA-1 noted that POPOVICH was wearing a complete new set of clothing which AEDOGMA-1 felt was out of the ordinary.

8. AEDOGMA-1 was served a police notice that he was to have gone to Corsica. When it came to the attention that AEDOGMA-1 was ill, they served another notice that he was to have reported twice daily to the police. When he did not report, the police visited him to confirm his illness.

9. [ ]'s wishes were relayed to AEDOGMA-1. On 27 April, AEDOGMA-1's condition generally was much better. The one remaining lesion is healing nicely. However, he developed great swelling in the area of his left foot and ankle which has been causing much pain. His current physician, the dermatologist, Dr. fnu GOETZ, offered him some encouragement in saying that this could be the last symptomatic outbreak of AEDOGMA-1's illness. AEDOGMA-1 will spend the next week or two in the Alps in this region. He hopes to return to Paris in about four weeks.

10. Forwarded herewith for Headquarters is the complete form for AEDUGMA-1. The test was administered by [redacted] on 21 April 1960 in AEDUGMA-1's apartment. [redacted] was introduced as [redacted] to AEDUGMA-1 in 1959, just before LCOUTBOUND took place.) It is requested that this form be forwarded to [redacted] for analysis. The conditions for JBRINIUM were not optimum since AEDUGMA-1 had not recuperated from his illness and was tired. He accepted the proposal of the test with the comment that his mind was not alert; however, we forward the results as a matter of record and for its worth in light of the conditions under which it was administered. He did not request a playback.
